AXP365 Configuration Management™

Environment strategies require moving configuration data among environments. AXP365 Configuration Management™ has been specifically designed to reduce the time spent on documenting configuration and the risks related to manually tracking changes.

AXP365 Configuration Management™ enables copying configurations to/from any environment or legal entity. The export can produce a human-readable Configuration Specification Document. It can also compare configurations between environments and document differences, producing a Configuration Comparison Document.

AXP365 Configuration Management™ will reduce the burden associated with comparing configurations and maintaining multiple environments and/or companies.

Copying configurations and tracking changes becomes a fast, low-risk activity.

KEY BENEFITS

Automatically configure environments

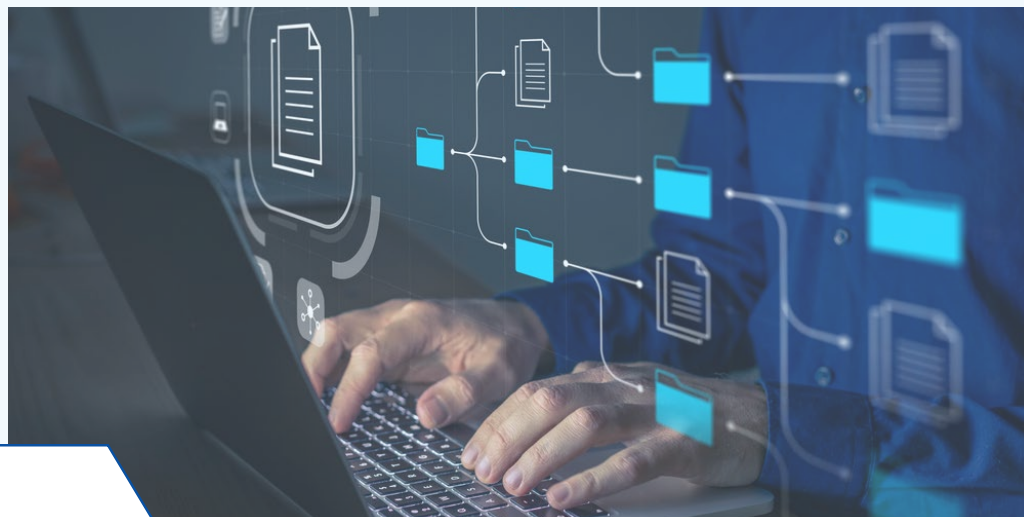

Export configurations from the Master Configuration Environment (Golden Copy) and import them to any other environment. Generate a human-readable Configuration Specification Document that documents the environment configuration and will be useful in the import and validation process.

Compare configurations

Compare the configuration of different legal entities or different environments and generate a Configuration Comparison Document that enables maintaining alignment across environments and companies.

Document and certify configuration

Changes over time and validate that a configuration has been properly moved across companies or environments.
